KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Norway People Know How to Save It.

Many Norway people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

Mrs. Susan F. Harlow, Skillerin Ave., South Paris, Me., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions and have always found them to be a good kidney remedy. They strengthened my kidneys and were very effective in relieving the other symptoms of kidney complaint from which I suffered so severely. Recently, feeling that my kidneys needed a tonic, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and I had taken but a few doses before I was relieved. I continued using the remedy and I have since felt better in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

The Problem.

Back over the vista of obliterated years
Wanders my vision with melancholy mien;
Seasons of joy and sorrow; periods of smiles
And tears;
With interludes of all the glorious might have been
Wonder if the lesson of years of strife and toil
Makes a soul better as the days go by.
Springing, like lovely flowers, from out the virgin soil,
Gain we more beauty in the Creator's eye?
Or does the world turn, with its battle and strife, Far away from the model that dwelt in God's thoughts,
When he placed our hearts on the anvil of life,
To be completeness by destiny wrought?
Each must answer himself, be he layman or priest;
For answer this question no other man can:
Are you sure your Creator feels very well pleased With the job that he did when he made you a man?

THE DREAMER.

40, 7, 36, 42, is to sport.
26, 32, 36, 42, is to reveal.
51, 24, 18, is a domestic animal.
53, 21, 41, 5, is to be mistaken.
54, 48, 4, is more than six.
55, 26, 27, 4, is a number.

Send the answer to PUZZLER, Box 55 West Bethel, Me.

The first and fifth solvers will each receive five pretty post cards, and the tenth an illustrated magazine.

The answer to the enigma which appeared in the Advertiser of October 1st, is:

"The melancholy days are come,
The saddest of the year;
With meadows brown and falling winds,
And meadows brown and fallow."
Five sent the correct solution in the order given:

1. Mrs. W. R. Bryant, West Paris.

2. Florence E. Garner, Kezar Falls.

3. Mrs. C. Springfield, Mass.

4. Mrs. E. R. Gardner, Norway.

5. Mrs. S. W. Bradley, Nashua, N. H.

The post cards were won by Mrs. Bryant, and they have been mailed to her address.

Died on the Street.

Prof. Isaac Walker of Pembroke, N. H., dropped dead on the street from heart-failure. He had been attending a banquet of the Schoolmasters' club in Concord, the evening before, and was intending to return to Concord to the State Teachers' Convention for the afternoon program.

Professor Walker was born at Fryeburg, Sept. 26, 1822. His early life was spent upon a farm. He attended the rural schools and Fryeburg academy and entered Dartmouth college at the age of 17 years, graduating in the class of 1863. He was one of that band of Dartmouth students who left college in 1862 and enlisted for the war, forming a cavalry squad and became attached to the Seventh Rhode Island cavalry. In that severe service he sustained injuries, the consequences of which impaired his vigor through life.

Upon leaving college, he went to Pembroke, N. H., to teach. His academy. After five years of service there, he went to Ware, Mass., as principal of a high school there, but was induced to return in 1873, where he has since been in the active work of teaching until the very day of his death.

For more than forty years, Pembroke academy has been Professor Walker's constant care and solicitude. Early in his life as a teacher, he took up the study of theology, and was permitted to preach, and from time to time he had preached many sermons in the local churches and in those of neighboring towns. Next to the study of the Scriptures, his favorite study was research, the records having been lost. He was a member of the E. E. Sturtevant G. A. R. post of Concord, of the United Order of Golden Cross and of the New Hampshire Historical society.

He married in 1866, Mary P. Smith, who survives him, and three children, Mrs. Dr. E. E. Hill of Saco, Arthur P., a stationer of Concord, and Florence J., teacher, who resides at home.

The Congregational church was filled to its utmost seating capacity by sorrowing friends at the funeral. The trustees, faculty and entire student body of Pembroke academy assembled at the academy building and marched to the church; there was also a delegation from Sturtevant post, G. A. R. of Concord, and a body. Townspeople and many from surrounding towns, mainly former pupils, taxed the seating capacity of the church to its utmost.

Prof. Walker had always kept up his interest in his native town and county, and was a subscriber to the Advertiser for the past quarter of a century or more.

Pendexter-Huntress.

An event of interest was the marriage of two of Hiram's popular young people, Emma J. Huntress, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Huntress, to Willard P. Pendexter, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pendexter.

The wedding was a very quiet affair, taking place Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 20, at the Methodist parsonage, the pastor, Rev. J. R. Bemic, performing the ceremony. The bride wore white and the couple were unattended.

Saturday evening, Oct. 23, a company of about 100 guests gathered at the bride's new home where a reception was a feature of the evening. At 8 p. m. the couple stood in line to receive with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Pendexter, the former a cousin of the groom, to assist and Wm. Benton, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Fred Dargis to usher.

The bride was exceedingly charming in a dark blue gown trimmed with white and Mrs. Jacob Pendexter looked very attractive in a pale green creation with white lace insertions, and we must not omit to say that the groom was at his best also. The rooms were tastefully decorated with potted plants, cut flowers, holly and hellebore.

Friends from out of town were present from Portland, Cornish, Brownfield, Portland and East Hiram.

After the reception a popular organist at Cornish favored the company with two appropriate selections, following which dainty refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served. The wedding presents were Josephine, Celia and Cora Gilpatrick, Theresa and Bertha Huntress, Beatrice Gilpatrick, Mrs. Emma Wadsworth, Mrs. Chas. Adams and Mrs. Marion Dargis, Messrs. Harvey Bartley and Winship Pendexter as waiters.

A Public Benefit.

The people have already demonstrated that they would rather trust a man who is naturally honest than one who is honest only because he had to be.

F. P. Stone has a firm established reputation for square dealing and sterling honesty. When they told the people that Rexall Remedies are the purest and most dependable medicines that it is possible for modern science to produce, and that they would tell the public what each one of these 800 or more remedies contained, and that they sold Rexall Remedies on their personal guarantee that they would give entire satisfaction or they would not cost the used a single cent, they were believed.

Ever since this announced F. P. Stone has been largely patronized by people buying Rexall Remedies, all of which proves that this store has the confidence of the people and that honesty is the best policy.

There is no "cure-all" among the Rexall Remedies. There are different and separate medicines, each one devised for a certain human ailment or a class of ailments closely allied. For instance Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are recommended for the positive relief of stomach irritation, indigestion, flatulency and dyspepsia. They are rich in Bismuth carbonate, Pepsin and Carminatives. They are prepared by special processes which perfect and enhance the great remedial value of these well-known medicinal agents. This remedy sells for 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00 per package. Every one suffering from stomach disorder should try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, inasmuch as they cost nothing if they do not satisfy.

Remember, the F. P. Stone Drug store is the only store in Norway where these remedies may be obtained, and every one in need of medicine is urged to investigate and take advantage of the frank and generous manner in which they are sold.

BUCKFIELD.

News has been received of the death of William D. Chase of typhoid fever on

Oct. 20 in San Juan hospital, San Juan,

P. R. He was a native of Buckfield, was 57 years old and a son of the late Hon.

Thomas Chase. The early part of his life was passed here, and he resided several years in Geneva, N. Y., and subsequently resided in Yonkers until last spring, when he went to Porto Rico to engage in the fruit business. His remains will be brought to Geneva for burial. He leaves a wife and two daughters by a former marriage.

men making barrels and it will take several weeks to supply the number promised.

Stanley Benson has moved from the Florian Jordan, Jr., place to the upper rent in the Lodge House, owned by Mrs.

B. E. Gerrish.

Fire was discovered in the barn of Mr.

Peck, who lives at the end of Merrill street. The alarm was quickly given and the fire department soon had two streams on the blaze which was confined to the barn with only slight damage.

The family had left the place only a few minutes before the fire was discovered.

The body of Mrs. Clarinda Spaulding of South Portland was brought here for burial. A brief service was held at the home of Benjamin Spaulding. Mrs.

Spaulding was eighty-seven years of age and was one of the original members of the Baptist church here. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Eunice Bartlett of Canton.

The Teacher's Hallows' Eve.

On All-Hallows-Eve our teacher, Nina Burgess of Casco, gave a party to her pupils at her boarding place, Willard Street. Promptly at seven o'clock the little folks began to arrive accompanied by their parents. Jack-o'-lanterns of every description were peering from the windows and standing guard on the piazzas to greet the children as they arrived.

When all had gathered Miss Burgess conducted the pupils to the kitchen where Manley Brett and Susan Emerson, Canada helped entertain. A peanut hunt opened the program, Grace Grover finding the most received a chocolate man equipped with a lantern to frighten away the ghosts. Bobbing for apples was the next in order calling forth shouts of laughter and much hand clapping. But-ton, Button, Who's got the Button? Hunt the Button and Twirl the Platter were among the other games. Stories were told for the amusement of the very smallest ones.

Apples, grapes, popcorn, brown sugar fudge, punch and peanuts were served to the children throughout the evening. The grown-ups, except for occasional peeps at the youngsters, remained in the sitting-room where they were entertained at two tables of punch. Apples and grapes were near at hand and a share of the children's treat also appeared. Much laughter and fun prevailed, causing it to be a merry evening. At eleven o'clock the guests took their leave, thanking Miss Burgess for giving the children such a pleasant and enjoyable party.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

More Apples Than Expected.

The apple harvest is over and the fruit growers are reporting much larger crops than they expected by the promise of the early summer.

Frank Morse, our largest grower of choice winter apples, is reported to have about 900 barrels, Baldwin and Stark mostly.

Another apple grower, who thought in the summer he might have fifty barrels for sale, has 150 barrels of excellent quality. Many of our farmers think they will hold their apples a while, hoping to get a higher price than the $2.00 per barrel, being offered by market-men.

W. K. Hamlin and Mrs. Hamlin attended the Oxford Pomona Grange at West Bethel the present week.

The Kimball brothers, E. P. and G. L., raised about 1,000 bushels of potatoes this year. E. P. raised 490 bushels and G. L. 500 bushels.

W. W. Watson recently lost a valuable horse caused, it is supposed, by over-feeding which produced inflammation of the bowels. Mr. Watson has purchased another horse to replace the one lost.

The gratifying success of some farmers in raising large crops of potatoes is exciting much interest in the cultivation of that standard vegetable. Three hundred bushels to the acre and upwards of four hundred are reported this year.

Haggood & Willard have had three coopers for several weeks making apple barrels at North Norway. At the same time Will Goodwin has been making barrels in the home shop. The stock of materials will be nearly worked up this fall.

Under the recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools, the desks and seats in the schoolhouse have been turned around on account of the brilliant light heretofore shining in the faces of the scholars. It is a measure of relief for the eyes of the pupils and is truly appreciated.

It is agreeable to note the rousing crops of potatoes and other valuable products of the Waterford farmers. It is surprising to also note in the fields of some of our farmers a stout crop of another kind for which few farmers have any sale or use. Weeds!

Mr. W. Watson on her recent visit to her son, Dr. Harry Watson of Haverhill, met by appointment her daughter, Mrs. Edith Haynes of Genesee, N. Y. In Boston together they visited the family of Dr. Watson and other near relatives in Worcester. Mrs. Haynes has come to spend the winter with her parents, as her husband has gone to Arizona to engage in the development of a copper mine in which he is interested.

BETHEL.

The Y. P. C. U. of the Universalist church had a supper and Hallows' Eve party last Friday evening, which was successful in every way. The cold blustering wind of the afternoon kept a few more from attending but a good time was enjoyed by all present.

The pastor of the Universalist church, Rev. J. H. Little, and his family have moved to Bethel and now occupy the new house owned by Thomas Hastings on Paradise Road, south from the corner of Broad street. Mr. Little was called to South Paris, Wednesday of this week, to perform the marriage service for two South Paris people, and two more have engaged him to be at home at Bethel the last of the week. These last are also from South Paris.

Mrs. Stella May York, formerly of Bethel, died in Portland last Saturday afternoon, and was buried at Bethel. The service was at the home of her sister, Mrs. Sturtevant, Tuesday at 1 p. m., attended by Rev. J. H. Little. The burial was at West Bethel.

The weather for the past week has been a mixture but on the whole mild for this time of year. A few blustering days have reminded the people of coming winter and there is a general hustling to do up the outside work, put on the storm doors and windows, hurry in with the last of the outdoor wood pile, and make ready for comfort when the winter gets down to solid work.

Thomas Hastings is building another house to rent on Paradise Road. It is two stories, will be equipped throughout for electric lights, with bath room, stable and where a smoky glimmer, hardly worthy the name of a light, tried to light the people on their way a few days ago, now the brilliant electric sweeps away the shadows of night and makes life worth living, especially for those who are called by duty or pleasure to be on the street after daylight has disappeared.

May Cross went to Lewiston, Saturday. R. A. Skillings is working for N. R. Springer.

Z. W. Bartlett and wife spent Sunday at Albert Copeland's.

N. R. Springer has been away on business for the last few days.

Mrs. E. L. Edwards has returned from Portland, where she has been staying for the past few weeks.

School at the Academy was closed Thursday and Friday as the teachers attended the convention in Lewiston.

At the N. E. Fruit Show, R. L. Cummings won four first premiums and five second and third. Among them was the first for best general display of fruit for New England, first on box of Maine Baldwin, the Stetson premium for best box Baldwin, first on best box Ben Davis.

Ask your grocer for Turner's bees' honey.

Leon Walker and friend from Portland spent Sunday with Mr. Walker's parents.

Charles Parrott of Lynn, Mass., is visiting with his brother, George Parrott of High street.

Samuel Eaton returned Saturday from a business trip through Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Members of the T. A. Roberts Post and Ladies' Relief Corps will attend the campfire at Paris, Tuesday, Nov. 9th.

OXFORD.

Emily A. Kavanough.

Emily A. Kavanough, widow of the late Bartlett Kavanough, died at her home in Portland early Friday morning, Oct. 22d, at the age of 73 years, 11 months. She had been in ill health since March but not until August did she consent to give up the care of her home to others.

Mrs. Kavanough was born in Hebron, Nov. 19, 1836. She was the first in a family of eight children. She came to Oxford with her parents when a child and lived with them until her marriage, Jan. 1st, 1862. Soon after they purchased the house on Pleasant street, now occupied by Cyrus T. Wardwell, and resided there until about 15 years ago when they moved to Portland to make a home for their two sons who were in business there.

Mrs. Kavanough was an active member of the Methodist church in Oxford and after moving to Portland was transferred to the West End Methodist church where she conducted a class of boys in the Sabbath school and made friends. She was also a member of the Oxford club in Portland and was deeply interested in its welfare. She was of a quiet nature who made home a paradise and all who entered knew they were welcome. Her boys were her first thought and they in turn were all devoted to her.

She leaves to mourn their loss two sons, George E. and Clarence W. of Portland; one sister, Mrs. Chas. Hanson, two brothers, Herman L. and Chas. H. Bumpus of Oxford, and a large circle of relatives and friends.

Her remains were brought to Oxford, Monday, Oct. 25th, where services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Kenison of Portland, a former pastor of the church of which she was a member. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

The G. A. R. Campfire.

The annual campfire of G. A. R. Post and Ladies' Relief Corps was held in the gymnasium at Oxford, Wednesday, Oct. 27. The store dwelling and streets were profusely decorated with bunting and American flags.

It was an ideal day and the incoming tide of the sea was a fine sight, and long before noon the hall was filled with the Veterans and their ladies. Each and everyone was eager and willful to welcome, honor and entertain the old and new members of the organization with long remain with the happy visitors. Oxford Corset Band furnished music.

At noon the band struck a march and the gathering present trampaded to Sons of Temperance hall and did justice to one of those dinners which only the good housewives in the county know how to furnish. The hall was decorated with the stars and stripes and the tables were loaded with good things right from home. More than 200 were served with dinner and when every appetite was satisfied an abundance of food remained on hand.

At close of dinner a social hour was spent in various ways. Many of the visiting ladies took a look over the village and some were introduced to the hall below and talked.

The men had a social smoke, renewed old acquaintances, talked crops and politics and brought up many reminiscences of the years '61-'65.

At 2 p. m. Cyrus Chaplin, Commander of the T. A. Roberts Post, called the meeting to order and after extending a hearty welcome to the visitors present, introduced Hattie Andrews as President of the Ladies' Relief Corps. Miss Andrews responded with a few well chosen remarks and was followed by singing, "Marching On to Victory."

Miss Andrews then introduced Maine's Department Commander McCausland. Mr. McCausland spoke at some length and his remarks were very apt and received with applause. He spoke of the influence of the stars and stripes upon our children, of the difference of war between now and in '61-'65, of the perpetuity of the nations, of the services performed by members of the G. A. R. and the men left upon southern battlefields and of the maimed and broken thousands that returned. Also of the probable condition of the country if the result of the war had been different. Do not despise the old Veterans, but give all credit and honor to the G. A. R. Veterans of '61-'65.

McCausland bestowed great praise upon the Ladies' Relief Corps, not alone for the good and abundant food furnished but also for their untiring work and good influences exerted throughout the nation. Mr. McCausland indicated in a few pleasant remarks at close of his address and left his audience in good humor.

Comrade Charles George of Hebron gave a very appropriate informal talk and was followed by song by Augustus Wardwell, "Good-bye Sweet Marie." Rev. Mr. Farnsworth gave a humorous reading entitled "A Modern Sermon," built upon the story of "Old Mother Hubbard who went to the cupboard to get her poor dog a bone." Mr. Farnsworth's rendition was more than good and he received well merited applause. For an encore he told the story of "No Fools in Paradise." Cyrus T. Wardwell, Senior Vice-Commander, told some very interesting reminiscences of the battle of Gettysburg.

Mrs. Bartlett of Bethel gave a lengthy and very beautiful recitation. Perley French sang in his usual manner "The Dream of the U. S. A." The meeting was brought to a close by all singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

It is at the campfires and reunions that the old soldier thoroughly enjoys himself, for they have thoughts and associations that pertain to themselves and their comrades who have passed on. They live over again the different battles fought, the long, hard marches, the picket duty, the incidents of camp life, and the insufficient food, sickness and death of prison life.

While the reunion days are most pleasant to the Veteran it is the parting that brings sadness, as none knows better than they do the general glory of their roll around one or more of their number who have answered the last roll call. But we sincerely trust that, long before the last member of the G. A. R. sinks into his bed of rest the word war and all that pertains to it will become obsolete. And that the Angel of Peace will rest not alone over the United States, but over the entire world.

Ask your grocer for Turner's bees' honey.

Leon Walker and friend from Portland spent Sunday with Mr. Walker's parents.

Charles Parrott of Lynn, Mass., is visiting with his brother, George Parrott of High street.

Samuel Eaton returned Saturday from a business trip through Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Members of the T. A. Roberts Post and Ladies' Relief Corps will attend the campfire at Paris, Tuesday, Nov. 9th.

SOUTH PARIS.

Harold Fossett of Portland is to spend several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Anderson. Mr. Fossett is taking this vacation on account of his health.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church gave one of their usual fine suppers, Tuesday evening, to the members of the church and invited guests. After the supper was cleared away a genuine old-fashioned social followed and everyone had what is termed "a fine time."

There will be a meeting of the Western Maine Poultry Association at Engine House hall, Tuesday evening, Nov. 9. It is desired a large attendance be present. Preparations are now being made for the Poultry Show which will be held in January. The committee on coops are getting the stock together to make the 300 coops for the birds. The specials and the catalogue will soon be out.

DON'T BE MISLED

If you feel exhausted and weak or tire easily, don't try to brace up on liquor or some patent medicine that will produce the same effect.

It is only temporary, and the reaction leaves you in worse shape than before.

What you want is more strength. Father John's Medicine is a pure food medicine; its ingredients are nourishing and strengthening. Nothing equals it as a tonic and body builder for all throat and lung troubles.

Contains no alcohol or injurious drugs. Get a bottle today; it will make you strong. Remember, it has been in use fifty years.

ARE YOU ON THE SAFE SIDE?

It is a great satisfaction to have a good reliable insurance policy with a solid, prompt loss paying company.

The companies we represent are among the best. We offer instruments that have tone and character. They'll hold for years and always satisfy.

The Farmer's Most Valuable Asset.

Money? No. The farm? No. Stock, tools, timber, family? Not right. These are all good and valuable, but the most valuable asset the farmer has is health. That gone, he is done; his days of usefulness are over. So a word of advice is offered to day, when the farmers of this country are coming face to face with the real hard work of the season.

Don't be in a hurry. Work hard, make things move, but do not wear your self out hurrying. Dry axles are bad on machines; not less so human bodies all the time chafed with haste.

Then keep from worrying. Worry is worse than hurry. It puts grit in the bearings of the machinery and cuts the steel of life out without giving any return. If you must worry, worry tomorrow.

Again, eat slowly; drink a few swallows at a time. Keep inside of your strength.

Make your wife your counselor and trust in an all-wise Providence. This will help you to live much longer and to enjoy yourself while you do live.

Grafters and Their Victims.

The Buncos Man at Fairs, Circuses, and Other Public Gatherings. Gather in the Shekels. How the "Camel-Back," Umbrella Trick and Other Games are Worked.

"Here's where ye stand to win! A square game of chance! Try yer luck! Come on! come on! come on!!!"

Doesn't that sound familiar? Haven't you heard this call at circuses and fairs, time after time? And haven't you watched the smooth manipulation of the game, that separated the victim from his money with a smoothness that was simply wonderful?

"Don't let your angry passions rise. Luck's bound to come your way if you keep trying. Give the old lady another chance. Only one more and the wheel starts."

That's the way the Barker consoles the fellow who has just dropped a dollar, or five dollars as the case may be. Meanwhile you see first one and then another apparently win, and they do it so easily and the game is apparently run so fairly, that the first thing you know your hand is down in your pocket, and you are feeling for a silver half, just to see what it will bring.

One of the fraternity, dressed in the height of fashion, with lilac gloves, had just been doing a land office business in a western city and on his way to Chicago to meet some of his old time pals, he got confidential and here is the story as he told it to a fellow tourist, in the table vernacular of the fraternity, as the trait sped on. It reveals how the smooth manipulators of fake buncos schemes work their victims.

"Flat joints are always good for a killing," said he, with an air of a Boston man, refined, alert, keen for good language; a Boston man buccannering in the mining camps and thereabouts, none of your "doses" and "doses" and "doses" in his dialogue, but good enough English from the Irish.

"What mischief is there in the life for a man of your education and refinement?" asked the tourist.

He was he frankly admitted, simply scalping the West to make his bones and light out. See the point? But it was a rough, hard life, he conceded, and he hated it from the heart, but he needed the easy dough, which he needed just like anybody else. Then he went on with his story.

"West down one day," he began, "to a place in Utah. Had a camel back with a squeeze on it, a sure thing outfit to take the money from the bubes."

"The squeeze which throws the spindle," said he, "works from under the table. A camel back is about three feet long, and is on a table ten feet long, around which the bubes gather to give their money in the hope of winning their everlasting fortunes from the peak of the spindle. Of course at the right time the squeeze will stop the spindle anywhere I wish."

"On the table is a circle and on some spaces are five boxes and three and so on, and in another space is DU and in another JP. The meaning of DU is simply this: If a bube puts down two bits, the booster takes the end of the squeeze stops it on the DU and then the next time it costs the player half a dollar to keep his interest alive, but it forces me, the house, to put a dollar where the bube can see it. I tell him, 'Should this spindle stop on 5 this time, or on two or three, you get double the amount, according to the numbers.' Savvy?"

"The trouble with a spindle and squeeze outfit is to get it in a place where you can work it, but this time I happened to be in such a place. Here everything goes if you square yourself with the right men of the town on a percentage basis."

"Are you on? I paid a certain party 60 bones for the privilege of working on the flat joints, and he tipped the wink to the chief of police to give me plenty of time to light out in case of trouble. So far, good."

"On this day I took in eight or 10 bubes for various amounts from $20 to $30 and was feeling pretty good when I came a fellow named Shorty, who ran a restaurant, and he said, 'What have you got there?'"

"There ain't no police around here at this moment?" I said, peering anxiously around, and at the same time we were under the protection of the police. Under my breath I whispered:

"Kindly step over close and I will put you wise."

"I went on and explained it to him and he said, 'By gee, I'll try it for two bits.'"

"To make a long story short, I doubled him from 25 cents to $10, and if you think me for a quarter, then for a half, then for a dollar, then for two, then for four, then for eight, then for sixteen, or $31.75, while you draw a few breaths. If he keeps on doubling every loss to get good fat money, and two or three such players means $300 to $500 an hour or so, or even if you get only one who

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Louisville, Ky.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has certainly done me a world of good and I cannot praise it enough. I suffered from irregularities, nervousness, and a severe female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored me to perfect health and kept me from the operating table. I will not be without this medicine in the house." Mrs. Sarah Lee, 3223 Fourth St., Louisville, Ky.

Another Operation Avoided.

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from female troubles, and my doctor said an operation was my only chance, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me without an operation."—LENA V. HENRY, R. F. D. 3.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

loses for $150, you can close up the day. Savvy? Oh, it's a snug thing, these flat joints."

"As I was saying, I got Shorty where he was in for something like $32. I say right here, by the way, that there may be no mistake, I never allow my customers to win a dollar, not a single dollar. All the bets won on my camel back are by my own boosters, and as the bube has the pleasure of seeing them win, it whets his appetite for more."

"In Shorty's case the booster won stopped the squeeze on JP. So I turned round to him and said:

"On the table is a circle and on some spaces are five boxes and three and so on, and in another space is DU and in another JP. The meaning of DU is simply this: If a bube puts down two bits, the booster takes the end of the squeeze stops it on the DU and then the next time it costs the player half a dollar to keep his interest alive, but it forces me, the house, to put a dollar where the bube can see it. I tell him, 'Should this spindle stop on 5 this time, or on two or three, you get double the amount, according to the numbers.' Savvy?"

"Just then my booster speaks up and says: 'Say, mister, can I take his chance?'"

"Oh, no, I reply, 'I won't let you cheat the devil himself,' which brings a laugh. 'Then my booster whispers to the bube: 'Shorty, he's trying to bluff you!'"

"The next course Shorty gets sore and rips out: 'By gee, you're a liar! I wait 10 minutes while I go down and wait it!'"

"Against the rules, neighbor," I cut in, "but rather than have a fuss or a row, I'll let you have a special favor to you wait just ten minutes; but remember, if you are not back in ten minutes you must certainly lose your interest in this pot."

"Shorty hollered to a friend who had a rig tied there, jumped into the rig and I never expected to see him again. "Imagine my surprise when, exactly ten minutes later, he came rushing up with $2 silver dollars. I grabbed him by the hand, and in order to make a very great show of squareness said, 'Here, neighbor, you turn the spindle yourself this time!'"

"He gave the spindle a vicious zip-p-p and I could tell by his looks that his heart was in his neck. He made all kinds of facial contortions and his eyes were as big as saucers. He crept forward slowly, and it looked as though he would stop on five boxes, just missed five, slipped over two, under one—and stopped on DU."

"For 20 seconds Shorty could not speak. Then he blurted out, 'Well, how much does it cost me this time?'"

"Do you mean, I said, 'to double up? It costs you, of course, just $64 this time, but remember you shall retain your interest in the bet. It forces me neighbor to put down $128. Of course should she amount prove to be a dud, I'll be sorry."

"By gad, I've got that much with me," he replied.

"In the meantime I had the booster playing along with him, and a lot of outsiders were also playing small bets and urging him on. He reluctantly decided to step out, and of course my booster covered his interest—and promptly won of silver I handed the booster over the money I thought Shorty would drop dead in his tracks."

"He decided to start all over again and asked, 'Well, what will it cost me now? And he began again at two bits and little by little he raised it to $12 and then a dropped out, skinned as clean as a whistle."

"After I got that Shorty went around and made it so hot with my booster, that I decided to close the house for the day. We got a rig and started for Springfield, a town on the main line of the Denver & Rio Grande."

"We were just in time to get a train for a point down the line, and as the train pulled out, I stood on the back of the platform and saw Shorty coming pell-mell down the road in a rig, with three or four tough looking friends and a deputy sheriff. I waved my hand and smiled."

And now the talk drifted to various forms of "flat joints" and the man with the lilac gloves and the nobby San Francisco clothes—going home to friends in Chicago, who may or may not know his trade—new deeply interested in his craft and discussed with expert information many of its subtleties.

"The umbrella game is a bit milder," he said reminiscently. "It's a wheel with colors, but there is a squeeze of course as in the other form of camel back. We couldn't do business without the plan of stopping it when and where we please, could we?"

"Of course not, pal; certainly not," the tourist cut in, and he looked re-luctant.

"Every man to his own trade," he returned with a sigh; "you have your way of skinning the public, I have mine. We all live off the public, I say. How is that, eh? Candidly, now, how is it?"

The train thundered on through the night and in the lull in the talk the man with the lilac gloves seemed to be thinking deeply. He resumed after he had apparently calmed the remnant of his conscience with some sort of invisible knockout drops:

"Say there are six colors. They put money down on a color, but there is a booster who goes down with them, see, and put down on the colors not covered. Five or six people can play the game."

"Now, if a dime calls a color he is supposed to get a dollar umbrella, and he has the privilege of selling it back to me for $1. A two-bit color called brings a $2.50 umbrella which I buy back at that figure."

"The umbrellas are just a stall to evade the law. They cost at wholesale $4 a dozen. If a man wins a $2.50 umbrella he receives the same umbrella as he does for $1; for, with slight variations in the law, the umbrellas are all alike. The limit of the game is $25 for $25 for the best, or $10 for the supposedly poorer umbrellas. We take them all back of course."

"The man that works the squeeze always stops it on the color that has the lowest bet. If there is $2 on the blue, $5 on the red, $1 on the black, 10 cents on the green and $10 on the yellow, he stops it on the green. The percentage is six to one, so strong that the player has no chance to win."

"The cloth is a variation of the spindle. A green cloth, with 12 miniature pins like the bowling alley pins, comprise the outfit. The pins are cut square with four numbers, one on each side. There is a board on the order of a blackboard, there are several numbers that mean JP and DU or double up if you wish to retain your interest."

"The idea is for the bube to knock down pins, and with lightning rapidity the grafter counts the number in view, or miscounts them. He has peculiar combinations, uses rather mysterious language."

"Here is the way of it: 'Ah, ba, ah, ha! 2 and 2 is 22, and 3 is 33, and then the player says 'What's that?' and the grafter takes a stick and goes over it again, with a show of fairness, but keeps miscounting. 'Why, my neighbor, look 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 is 124. And to distract attention, adds in a loud, triumphant voice, 'Ha, ha! Look on the board, neighbor, and see where 28 is!'"

"It means DU and he must double to stay. Holy Moses!"

And the grafter chuckled in spite of himself; it was very real to him.

"Well, he sticks 'em up again and again the player knocks 'em down. He says, 'By gee, you're a liar! This time you win! Yes, you win! Do you hear? Are you alive? Are you game? 3, 6, 9, 12 and 14, 18, 21 and you win! Look on the board that much with me here 21 is!'"

And he looks up, delighted to find, with surprise, that it is the cursed JP.

"Holy Moses! How he roars! Well, if he can't double up to protect his interest he drops out, and he is cleaned as slick as a whistle, and the grafter takes his defaulted interest, plays it and with surprising ease wins the pot."

"But, my friend," the tourist interjected, "how do you catch the boosters from getting away with the dough?"

"Are you a bube, too?" And he glared at the tourist. "Didn't you ever notice the mining country that there is a mysterious guy on the outside? He's on my pay, and he is called the cleaner."

"He cleans the boosters for me as soon as they get it. He gets me big money, for he must be a reliable man. His pay is usually $10 a day and expenses. He knows the game as well as I do, only he hasn't the capital to be in for himself. Savvy?"

"I've heard some mighty queer slang around flat joints," the tourist put in, trying to put the best face on it that he could after his error.

"Yes, the talk is all but incomprehensible to the layman," asserted the man with the lilac gloves. "Here are a few:

"I pay the lark day! What does that mean?"

"Give it up."

"Why, 'Pipe the detective.' And this one: 'I'll stay the old jay! Are you next?'"

"Not in a thousand years."

"Simple as a, b, c, that is, 'Slough the joint, close up!'" And this one: "The old bear at your app're! Savvy that?"

"Nix, pal."

"Simply this: 'The police, vamoose hoke!'"

The tourist happened to know some of the slang from Reno and cut in briskly: "Yes, but if a bube drops $500 and starts to make a rumble (noise) what do you do then, old pal?"

"The grafter walks away and abandons his layout which at best is worth say, $10. The minute the bube goes after a copper the grafter beats it. All grafters stick together, fighting among themselves, but in common danger shout 'Hey, Robe!' and fly to the other fellow's assistance. You bet your sweet life we will fight back to back if we have to."

"The greatest trouble is to get squared with the local police, but it can be done. For 15 per cent. rake-off the chief gives us time to get out should a bube make a holler. He tips us off, but meantime pretends to be overflowing with righteous indignation."

"Spin us another, pal; it's miles and miles to Chicago; we're still in the cow country. No, passed it by a long stretch. You certainly are a braggart."

"Thanks, fellow. I'm proud of my success, but not of my business. But as I told you, we all need the coin. I'm an educating two lovely sisters in one of the best towns in this old world, S. A. And don't you forget it, their love, their brother is there with the coin. Never mind where he gets. So isn't there something good in the worst of us, eh?"

"Sure thing, pal."—[Waldo Co. Herold.]

What Causes Indian Summer.

Indian summer, which closes the autumnal season, is due to certain natural causes. The warm hazy days of this romantic season are always ushered in during the falling of the leaves and are associated with the death of vegetation, withering leaves and dying stubble. In setting out to account for the phenomenon of nature which we call Indian summer, it is necessary to account for the absence from the atmosphere during this season of that degree of moisture necessary to produce rainfall, and also the strange atmospheric calm which prevails during these smoky, dreamy days of autumn.

The specific atmosphere during Indian summer is due to an interesting phenomenon which relates to the sun's passing the equatorial line. After the sun crosses the equator to the north, on March 21, a set of conditions is set up which results in what are known as trade winds. These winds are due first to the rising of the heated air on the hot belt which describes the sun's apparent circuit around the globe. When the sun has passed north of the equator, at this time, the atmosphere arising from the hot belt causes an atmospheric vacuum into which a stream of cool air naturally flows. This inflow must come from the nearest body of cold atmosphere. Since the sun's path carries around the globe, at this time, lies nearest the North Pole than it does to the South Pole, it follows that this body of cold atmosphere must come from the north. On this account the trade winds of our springtime blow always and invariably from the northeast.

The reason these winds appear to flow toward the equator from the northeast and not from the north, is that in the globe's revolutions a given point on the earth's surface at the equator travels through the atmosphere from west to east at the speed of one thousand miles an hour, and as a result the impression is made that the atmosphere is rushing from northeast to southwest. When the sun first crosses the equator the trade winds blow at an acute angle to the equator, on which account only a limited strip of the Northern Hemisphere, lying adjacent to the equator, is at first affected by these winds. As the sun moves further north these winds are made to involve a wider range of disturbance on this continent.

The subsidence of these winds, as the sun moves toward the equator in the Hemisphere, is characterized by conditions similar to those which accompany their first appearance in spring and later progress to the maximum of activity. The trade winds disappear, so far as their effects on this continent are concerned, the angle at which they blow being so acute, with relation to the equator, as to bring the track of these winds so far south as to be out of the range of this continent.

TRIED REMEDY FOR THE GRIP.

RYEBURG.

Ordered a Minister.
Mrs. May Williams, the daughter of Joseph Andrews of Hurley, S. D., a native of Fryeburg, was ordained a Congregationalist, Oct. 21st, at Wayland, Ohio. Mrs. Williams has been the assistant preacher (under a license) of the church of which her husband, Rev. Wm. John Williams, is pastor. They have one daughter, Margaret, seven years old. Mrs. Williams was formerly May Andrews and she was born in Hurley, S. D., June 15, 1876. Her father, who has spent the summer with her and who is an extensive land owner, is about to return to Hurley where he still maintains his residence.

Mr. Williams graduated from Oberlin Theological Seminary in 1901 and after their marriage they returned to Oberlin where he took a post graduate course in theology, the studies of which she also took up in essential complement of the course. Her subsequent studies have extended over a period of three years under the supervision of the Puritan Association which recommended that she be ordained to call the church to which she has been ordained.

Mrs. Williams is modest, unassuming and charmingly frank in her story of her call to the duties of the pulpit. "I took up the work to help my husband, who had more than he could do and we both felt that if I were regularly ordained I could be of much larger value as an assisting factor. We shall work together in a common field, carrying out the idea that first prompted me to stand before his people in his stead. My call to the ministry has been a gradual leading and my first attempt to speak from the sacred desk was at Rosedale, Cal., in 1904. We were then in the home missionary work and Mr. Williams had the church, the needs of which began to outgrow his ability to serve. The stronger of the two churches finally reached such a stage of development that help became imperative if he were to continue the double pastorate. It was at this juncture that I tremblingly suggested that possibly I might help him by officiating at the other church which otherwise he was deprived of services. I timidly ventured to stand before his congregation one Sunday morning and to my surprise my work was well received and I have the joy of knowing that I tided that little church over its most critical period. "Gradually I began to realize that I could do the work and then arose the question whether there was a course of study available for me. I found there was and began to study as I found opportunity to do so while attending to the duties of my household. My husband was in full sympathy with the plan and assisted me in fitting myself for its final realization. All of our work has been in fields where two or three weak churches have been assigned to my husband's charge and where my help was needed. I feel that I know very little of the work and God has honored my efforts." Thus spoke this earnest souled woman inspired with the high purpose of being a helpmeet to her husband by assisting him in the work of his profession.

Some 12 years ago Mrs. Williams visited with her father in Conway, N. H., and Fryeburg, Lovell and South Bridgton.
Mrs. Payson Weston has been ill at her home on Main street.
Master Clifford Eastman has been ill with an abscess in his ear.
Dr. H. C. Gordon has closed his house and returned to Portland for the winter.
Paul J. Newman has accepted a position with a surveying party on the upper St. John river.
Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Eastman and Edna Eastman have been at their camp at Lovewell's pond for a week.
Hobson & Twombly are erecting a saw mill on their site near the depot. They are also laying the foundation for an addition of 50 feet to the present mill.
Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Newman served a game supper to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. O. Warren, Bertha Warren, Mrs. Seth Weeks and Ruth Glines.
Mrs. B. N. Stone gave a "mother and daughter party" to the following guests: Mrs. D. R. Hastings and Alice Hastings, Mrs. Chauncey Warriner and Mrs. Mary Lord, Mrs. Eben Weeks and Mrs. Anna Wiley.

The Fryeburg Woman's Library club held their first meeting for the year at the library. The principal paper for the afternoon, "The Primal Races of Man," was read by Marion Wiley. There were readings by other members and refreshments were served by Miss Weston, who had the afternoon in charge.

Curing Colds in Advance.

Reputed cures for coughs and colds are literally legion, for hardly a drug can be mentioned, hardly a substance discovered, which is capable of either being swallowed or inhaled, that has not been recommended as a cough remedy. Eight-tenths of all colds are mild infections, which run their course until the body has time to produce an antitoxin or antibody to stop their further progress. As this process in reasonably healthy individuals is usually carried out in from four to six days, anything which happens to be given in that time stands a fair chance of getting a reputation as a cure.

The only sure cure for colds and coughs is to avoid the infections and the foul air of ill-ventilated rooms and buildings in which they breed; to keep the body toned up to the fighting pitch, by cold baths and an abundance of fresh air, especially in the bedroom; and if the infection does get a foothold to assist nature in her fight against it by rest in the open air, and promoting elimination through the skin, bowels and kidneys.

In fine, don't tinker with symptoms; look for the cause, and remove it. Don't try to lock the stable door after the horse is stolen, but train your horse to bite strangers. Attack is the best defense. Keep your body at good fighting weight, and you can defy disease. Sunlight, food, fresh air and exercise are the only curables known. Don't worry about disease and what to take when you're sick, but work for health.

Keep Flour Bills Down

Buy William Tell Flour—by the barrel, if possible. You thus protect yourself against "wheat corners" and rises in the price of flour. And you will always be sure of good flour and good bread—biscuits—pies and cakes. William Tell is made from the finest selected Ohio Red Winter Wheat. Ask any flour authority. He will tell you there is no other flour in the world that makes a finer grained or more delicious bread, or lighter biscuits. The wheat for our William Tell is stored in hermetically sealed tanks—cleaned six times before grinding—everything, even the sewing of the bags, is done by bright, clean machinery. Ask your dealer and insist on having—

WEST LOVELL.
Wm. LeBaron.
Wm. LeBaron aged 80 years, 6 months and 3 days, died at his home early Friday morning. He had been quite well until the day previous, having been able to drive the cows from the pasture. Wednesday morning, while at breakfast, he was taken ill, but not thinking of anything serious his son, Maynard, with whom he lived, went into the woods to work. About nine o'clock their housekeeper went to his room and found him unconscious. She summoned the doctor and went to the woods for his son, who called a physician, but he did not regain consciousness. One son, Roscoe, of this town and Herbert of Sweden were called home, but John of Bradford, Penn., and Roy of Bristol, Tenn., were unable to be present at the funeral, which was held at 2 p. m. Sunday, at his late residence. He had lived in this neighborhood for 77 years and at his late home 68 years. Rev. Mr. Reeves of Lovell spoke comforting words to the family and friends. Many people of the Lovell neighborhood church were in attendance, which was a member. His wife with whom he had lived nearly 50 years was Melissa Fox of this town. She died five years ago.

THE STORY of the CHERRY TREE
Is generally associated with Washington's Birthday. Little George chopped down the cherry tree. You know the rest of the story. We have another cherry story that will interest you and we want to tell it to you.

It is about

Rexall Cherry Juice Cough Syrup
It's a tart and tasty syrup that doesn't upset your stomach nor derange your digestion as most cough remedies do—but it does cure cough and colds quickly. A single dose will relieve the tightest and most stubborn cough, four doses will stop your coughing and a 25c bottle will break up the worst cold you ever had.
